

Ollscoil Chathair
Bhaile Átha Cliath
Dublin City University

DCU School of Law and Government Research Seminar

Navigating The Digital Economy: Emerging Issues in Company Law and Artificial Intelligence

Wednesday February 11th from 11am-1pm

C206, Moot Court Room, Henry Grattan Building, DCU
Glasnevin Campus

Programme

Welcome:

Tanya Ní Mhuirthile, Head of DCU's School of Law and Government
(TBC)

Introductory remarks:

Domenico Sinesio, Carlo Amatucci, University of Naples Federico II

Panel 1: European Company Law

Markus Fehernbach, Professor of Commercial Law, Ruhr University
Bochum

"The 28th Regime: A New Legal Form for Europe"

Carlo Amatucci, Professor of Commercial Law, University of Naples
Federico II

"The EU Proposed Omnibus Directive and the Supply Chains"

Francesco Salerno, Associate Professor of Business Law, University of Foggia

“The preventive control of instruments of constitution in Directive (EU) 2025/25 on the use of digital tools and processes in company law”

Panel 2: Artificial Intelligence and Commercial Law

Giuseppe Doria, Adjunct Professor of Intellectual Property Law, University of Naples Federico II

“A Comparative Perspective on AI and Intellectual Property”

Mario Mazza, Criminal Attorney

“Predictive AI and Preliminary Investigation in Commercial Crimes: A Control Over the Public Prosecutor”

Marcello D'Aponte, Professor of Labour Law, University of Naples Federico II

“Employment Relationships and AI: Adapting to the EU Directive Between Remote Controls and Worker Protection Systems”

Eduardo Zampella, Professor of Commercial Law, University of Naples Federico II

“Predictive and Generative Justice: The First AI Experiments in Italy”

Concluding remarks:

John Quinn, Assistant Professor of Company Law, Dublin City University