1. Online hosting

Herewith the undersigned grants the Ruhr University Bochum the non-exclusive (simple) right to copy, permanently store in electronic form and make publicly accessible in international networks the registered document (hereafter document) as well as the hereto supplied data (abstract and metadata) on this server.

2. Rights of third parties

I assure that the document is not a violation of legal provisions, official decrees or rights of third parties. In particular, I assure that I am the only rightholder or dispose of all necessary rights of use.

In the case of an edited work I obtained the consent of all participating authors. I am responsible for the content of the document to be published.

The publishing person indemnifies the Ruhr University Bochum from all claims by third parties. The Ruhr University Bochum is entitled to block the access to a document insofar as there are concrete indications of a violation of rights of third parties. In such a case the Ruhr University Bochum will do everything in its power to inform the publishing person about the blocking without delay.

3. Long-term storage / Transformation in other formats

The Ruhr University Bochum is granted the right to store the document in a long-term archive. Further it is granted the right to transform the document whenever necessary (e.g. migration, accessibility, indexing) into other electronic and physical formats with due regard to and preserving the content, and to utilize these formats according to article I.

4. Enablement of document to be circulated to libraries with a mission to build up national collections

The Ruhr University Bochum is granted the right to circulate the document including the accompanying metadata and the abstract to The German National Library as well as further possible subject-specific or regional document servers with the same rights as listed above.

5. Compensation

The Ruhr University Bochum does not pursue economic interests with the publication of the document. The undersigned does not receive a compensation.

6. Final papers: bachelor, master, magister, diploma, state exam theses

Final papers will only be published upon recommendation of the academic supervisor / examiner. I agree to the publication of the above-mentioned final paper.
